THE BIRTH OF INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL

Rutgers pioneered American intercollegiate football in a historic game played with Princeton on November 6, 1869 on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium stands in New Brunswick.

Football in its embryonic state bore little resemblance to its modern version. Playing under primitive rules, with 25 men making up each team, the original Scarlet "eleven" defeated the invading Princeton squad, 6 to 4.

The challenge for the original game was issued by Rutgers, partly in the hope of gaining revenge for a 40-2 baseball defeat which had been suffered by the Scarlet at the hands of Princeton in 1866. Princeton accepted the challenge and compromise rules were agreed upon since the rival institutions had been playing the game on an intra-mural basis under different codes.

Employed in the first game were the crude beginnings of such later bits of strategy as the flying wedge, sleepers, and the first incident of a harried player who in his excitement kicked the ball toward the wrong goal. And out of the first season—an abbreviated affair which included the initial game and a return contest at Princeton a week later—came the first administrative cry of "over-emphasis". A third game was scheduled in 1869 after Princeton had won the second contest, but the rubber affair was cancelled by joint action of the two college administrations on the grounds that football was interfering with study.

Like most innovations, football was frowned upon by some who witnessed the first game. A crotchety Rutgers professor who observed the action for a few minutes with mounting indignation, finally could contain his wrath no longer. Waving his umbrella at the participants, he shouted:

"You men will come to no Christian end."

The old prof was wrong. No less than seven of the 25 original Rutgers gridders later became ministers of the gospel.

In later years, a controversy developed over the fate of the Princeton team following the game's end. One of the Tiger players, the late William Preston Lane, contended in a newspaper interview in 1933 that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we didn't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

Lane's contention is refuted by accounts which appeared in contemporary newspapers. The Daily Fredonian, New Brunswick paper of that era, described the post-game proceedings in its issue of November 8, 1869 as follows:

"Through the generous liberality of the students of Rutgers College, a bountiful entertainment was prepared for our Princeton friends at the favorite resort in Church Street known as Northrop's, where 'mine host' and his estimable lady know how to get up a good supper."

Regardless of what actually did happen following the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the East's colleges and universities were represented on the gridiron.

THE RUTGERS COACHING STAFF

Harvey J. Harman, Head Coach

Harvey Harman, current president of the American Football Coaches Association, now is starting his third post-war season as head football coach at Rutgers. Harman coached his first Scarlet team in 1938 and since then, with time out during four seasons spent on leave of absence as an officer in the U. S. Naval Reserve, he has piloted Rutgers elevens to a brilliant record of 41 wins, 10 losses and one tie.

Harman has been directly associated with the gridiron sport since the age of 13, first at a player and later as a coach and administrator. He started his football career at New Castle (Pa.) High School and later played fullback at Peabody High School in Pittsburgh. Harman entered the University of Pittsburgh in 1918 and immediately won a starting berth as a tackle under the famed Glenn (Pop) Warner. During four years at Pitt, he was absent from the starting lineup only twice, and won recognition on several All-American teams. As an undergraduate, he also won his varsity letter in track and served as president of his class in his junior and senior years. He received his A.B. degree from Pitt in 1922 and launched his coaching career in the Fall of that year as head football mentor at Haverford College. Meanwhile he continued his studies at the University of Pennsylvania until receiving his master's degree in government from that institution.

Harman remained at Haverford until 1930 when he became athletic director and coach of football and track at Sewanee. A year later he went to Penn where he remained as head football coach until resigning in December, 1937. His appointment at Rutgers followed.

In 1938, his first season "On the Banks" his Scarlet gridders defeated Princeton in a famous 20-18 victory which dedicated the present Rutgers Stadium. The only loss in his initial season was to N.Y.U. The following season, Harman's eleven lost only to Brown. In 1940, the Scarlet lost three games, and in 1941 lost two, ending that season by avenging the 1939 defeat by Brown.

Following the outbreak of the war, Harman laid aside his coaching uniform for the blue of an officer in the Naval Reserve. He left the campus in the Spring of 1942, served as director of athletics at North Carolina Pre-Flight at Chapel Hill, was transferred to a similar post at Iowa Pre-Flight, and later saw combat duty aboard one of the Navy's largest carriers in the Pacific. He was a full commander at the time of his return to Rutgers late in 1945.

Harman, an active and popular figure in civic and religious affairs, is deacon of the Second Reformed Church of New Brunswick. He is first vice president of the Navy V-5 Association, and a member of Kiwanis, Phi Gamma Delta, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, and the University Club of Philadelphia.

Arthur A. Matsu, Backfield Coach

ART MATSU is the senior member of the Rutgers coaching staff in tenure. A member of the athletic department since 1931, Matsu now is starting his fifth season as varsity backfield coach, sharing his duties again this season with Eddie Masavage. As a player, Matsu starred at William and Mary in football, basketball and track. Upon graduation in 1928, he was named freshman football coach at his alma mater, remaining there until coming to Rutgers. He served as varsity assistant at Rutgers until 1936 when he was named freshman mentor. He was with the varsity again in 1937, returned to the freshmen in 1938, served two years as director of athletic publicity, and received his present assignment on the varsity staff in 1944.

Edward S. Masavage, Backfield Coach

EDDIE MASAVAGE has been associated with Harvey Harman almost continuously since 1931, first as a player, then as a coach, later in the service and now again as a member of Harman's coaching staff. Masavage played two years of varsity football under Harman at Penn, then upon graduation joined Harman's staff as varsity backfield assistant and coach of the Penn 150-pound squad. He came to Rutgers with Harman in 1938 and coached the backfield until entering the Naval Reserve in 1942. For a time he was stationed with Harman at North Carolina Pre-Flight, then went to sea aboard an aircraft carrier. Following his discharge as a lieutenant, Masavage returned to Rutgers to team with Art Matsu as backfield coach.

Alexander Sabo, Line Coach

AL SABO, one of Fordham's famed "seven blocks of granite" and former Rutgers end coach, replaces Dave Bender this season as taskmaster of the Scarlet line. Sabo is a "home town" athlete from New Brunswick High School who came to Rutgers as freshman line coach following his graduation from Fordham in 1936. He worked with the Scarlet varsity the following season, returned to the freshmen in 1938 and then became Harman's end coach in 1940. Sabo entered the Naval Reserve in 1942, became a lieutenant commander while serving in French Morocco, and returned to Rutgers in time for the 1946 season. Before the war, Sabo played professional baseball and was with the Washington Senators in 1937-38.

Donald Jones, Freshman Coach

DON JONES, last season's coach of the 150-pound varsity, moves over this season as pilot of the freshman eleven. Jones is a former Rutgers back who starred under Harman before entering the service. After winning honorable mention recognition as an All-American in 1942, Jones graduated in the spring of '43 and entered the Navy as a bombardier. After combat action in the Pacific, he received his discharge and returned to Rutgers to work toward his master's degree while serving as an associate coach in 1946. Jones, who weighs a mere 150 pounds, was renowned on the gridiron for his speed and used it to good advantage on the track as well as the football field while in college.

Otto Hill, Junior Varsity Coach

OTTO HILL, star center on Harman's 1941 Rutgers eleven, is starting his second season as coach of the Scarlet Jayvee squad. Following his graduation from Rutgers in 1942, Hill entered the Army Air Forces, serving for three years before returning to Rutgers with Don Jones as a graduate student and associate coach. As an undergraduate, Hill won three varsity football letters and was a member of the lacrosse squad. While in the Army, he played on the strong Maxwell Field eleven as a center in 1944 and with the Hawaii Air Defense team in 1945.

Richard L. Voliva, 150-Pound Coach

DICK VOLIVA, Rutgers varsity wrestling coach and last season's pilot of the freshman football squad, will coach the lightweight eleven this Fall. Voliva is a former Olympic wrestler who starred in football, wrestling and track while at Indiana University. After competing in the 1936 Olympics, he was named wrestling coach and assistant football and track coach at New Jersey State Teachers College in Montclair, where he remained until entering the service in 1942. He rose to the rank of major while serving in the ETO. Voliva resigned his position as dean of men and head coach of football and baseball at Montclair to come to Rutgers in the Fall of 1945. For two years he has led his Scarlet wrestlers to Middle Atlantic championships.

Mike Stang, Trainer

John Powers, Custodian of Equipment

RUTGERS ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

George E. Little, Director of Athletics

GEORGE LITTLE has been a prominent figure in the intercollegiate athletic picture for more than 30 years. He has an enviable record as a player, a coach and an administrator and has been in charge of Rutgers athletics since 1931. Little graduated from Ohio Wesleyan in 1912 after a brilliant football and track career. In 1914-15 he was head coach of football and basketball, assistant track coach and assistant physical director at the University of Cincinnati. He went to Miami (Ohio) University in 1916, left during the first war to serve as an officer overseas, and returned to become director of athletics. He went to Michigan in 1922, becoming head coach of football in 1924. A year later he was appointed director of physical education and head coach of football at Wisconsin. Two years later he resigned as coach to devote full time to administrative duties. He remained at Wisconsin until 1931 when he resigned to accept his present position at Rutgers.

Harry J. Rockafeller, Assistant Director of Athletics

"Rocky" is generally regarded as one of the best known and popular figures associated with Rutgers athletics. Entering Rutgers in 1912, he starred for four years in varsity football, basketball, baseball and track. After serving in the war and engaging in business for several years, he returned to his alma mater in 1924 as graduate manager of Rutgers athletics. Following reorganization of the coaching staff in 1927, he was named head football coach. During four years his teams won 19 and lost 16 games. In 1930 he resigned as coach to devote full time to his managerial duties, but in 1932 went back to coaching as pilot of the 150-pound varsity. His elevens were undefeated in 18 games and won Eastern Intercollegiate titles in 1933, '34 and '35. With the advent of the war, "Rocky" returned to varsity coaching, leading his four war-time teams to a record of 14 wins, 10 losses and one tie.

SCARLET SKETCHES

Ends

- ALBERT BURNETT, physical education. Burnett is a junior transfer from Notre Dame where he played varsity ball last year. He won all-State recognition as a tackle at Irvington High in 1944, then served three years in the Merchant Marine and Army before entering college.
- PETER BUTKUS, psychology. Butkus moved up to the varsity squad last year after playing jayvee ball in his freshman season. Played fullback and tackle at Good Counsel in Newark before settling down to his present position. Served two years in Navy.
- WILLIAM HATCHETT, physical education. Last season's starting left end and star receiver. Set all-time Rutgers record in basketball with 40-point performance against Bucknell last Winter. Tied Rutgers record in high jump last Spring at 6-3 and set new school mark of 15.1 in high hurdles.
- WILLIAM NEBB, business administration. Nebb is a junior transfer from Lebanon Valley. Played tackle and end at Bound Brook High School, entered Navy in 1943, served in Atlantic patrol and played service football with Jacksonville Naval Air Station eleven.
- GEORGE RUDDY, physical education. Moved up from junior varsity last Fall and saw considerable varsity action in a reserve role. Was a member of last Spring's crack Scarlet nine. Won three football letters at Rahway High School.
- LEWIS SMITH, pre-law. Smith is in his second season of varsity play at Rutgers. After graduating from Phillipsburg High School, Smith entered the Navy in 1944, and played that Fall on the Lafayette varsity as a Navy trainee.
- RICHARD WACKAR, physical education. Followers of Harry Rockafeller's 1945 Scarlet varsity remember Wackar as a pass-catching end. Ten pounds heavier, Wackar is now back in college after having spent two years in the Navy. Shows great promise as an offensive wingman.
- ROGER WILLIAMS, bacteriology. Williams is up from last season's yearling squad. He won four letters as an end at Allentown, Pa., High School, also played baseball and basketball. Is limiting his athletic pursuits to football at Rutgers.

Tackles

- BURTON ARNOLD, physical education. Arnold is the only sophomore on this season's tackle squad. A 210-pound husky, Arnold played three years of varsity tackle at Linden High School before entering the Navy in 1944. He served at sea for 10 months, entering Rutgers following his discharge.
- PAUL CORRIGAN, physical education. Corrigan is a two-year letterman who handled most of the right tackle job on offense after mid-season last year, giving way on defense to Bob Ochs. Was an all-Hudson County tackle at St. Michael's High in 1941.
- WILLIAM FAHERTY, physical education. Faherty won his varsity letter as tackle on the 1945 Scarlet eleven, but has not participated in football for the past two years. Last Winter he won a varsity letter as a heavyweight wrestler. Was an all-State tackle at Pennington in 1944.
- ROBERT LYMAN, business administration. Bob is now in his third season as a member of the varsity. Before entering Rutgers he played for two years at Hillside High School, then joined the Navy as an aviation cadet.
- ROBERT OCHS, physical education. Injured on the opening play of the opening game in 1946, Ochs was out of action for the year but came back last season as a standout defensive tackle. In the Lehigh game, he scooped up a loose ball and lumbered 30 yards to a touchdown.
- OAKLEY PANDICK, physical education. Heaviest man on the squad at 230. Although bothered by a mid-season injury, Pandick started at left tackle in most of last year's games. He is a former infantry officer who served in the Philippines.
- FRANK THROPP, business administration. Thropp is now in his fourth season of varsity play at Rutgers. Was in the starting lineup for every game as a freshman and sophomore, gave way to Pandick last season when he alternated between the right and left side.

Guards

- BOB HUBBARD, mechanical engineering. Bob has come up to the varsity from last Fall's jayvee squad and is following his father's footsteps as a varsity Rutgers gridder. Hubbard graduated from Haddonfield High in 1946 after winning two football letters.
- MICHAEL KUSHINKA, physical education. Mike climaxed two seasons of varsity play last Fall by receiving recognition as the team's outstanding lineman. He played football at Liberty High in Bethlehem, Pa., before entering the Navy. Served 20 months at sea.
- GERALD MALANGA, business administration. Malanga is a junior transfer from St. Bonaventure where he played varsity football in 1946. He is a graduate of West Side High in Newark where he won all-State recognition in 1943. Served nine months overseas with the Army.
- DONALD OAKLEY, business administration. Oakley is the only guard from last Fall's freshman eleven to work his way to the varsity squad this season. He is a graduate of Bogota High School where he climaxed three seasons of play by winning all-Bergen county honors.
- JERRY RAPHEL, psychology. The best student on the squad with a brilliant 1.4 scholastic average. Raphel played in a reserve role last Fall and holds a varsity wrestling letter. He served with the Marines in the Pacific after graduating from Brooklyn Boys High.
- EARL READ, history. Was a tackle when he reported for pre-season practice last year, was switched to guard, and found himself in the starting lineup after the opening game. Quick and aggressive, Read captained his high school eleven at Phillipsburg High before entering the Merchant Marine.
- ADAM SCRUPSKI, business administration. Scrupski has seen varsity action as a reserve for the past two seasons. Like Raphel, he holds a varsity wrestling letter. Scrupski played three seasons of football at Irvington High School where he won all-county acclaim.
- JAMES TAIGIA, physical education. Taigia is another of many ex-sailors on the Scarlet varsity. Known as the "Chief," Taigia has seen heavy action during the past two seasons and may crowd Read for the starting nod this Fall. Taigia is a former Highland Park High School luminary.
- ROY VALENTINE, education. Valentine was a fullback when he came to college. In 1946 he played at center and last season he was switched to his present guard position. Before serving two years in the Army, Valentine won all-State prep school honors at Bordentown.
- JACK VAN ETTE, pre-law. At 28, Van Etten is the oldest member of the Scarlet squad this year. Ten years ago he was starring at Lakewood High School where he won all-State honors. He became a chief petty officer while serving six years in the Navy.

Centers

- ERNEST GARDNER, physical education. Starting center in all of last season's games, ex-major in Army Air Forces, married, father of a three-year-old son. Ernie was an all-State center at North Plainfield High School in 1938, later starred at Pennington.
- FRANK KOOS, ceramics. Koos is a sophomore who hails from South River where he won all-State honors before entering Valley Forge Military Academy. In addition to his freshman grid numerals last Fall, he also won wrestling numerals.
- LOUIS NENNINGER, civil engineering. Nenninger is a sophomore transfer from Southwestern College at Winfield, Kan. He graduated from Toms River High School in 1946 where he won two letters in each of three sports, football, basketball and track.
- WALTER TALAN, business administration. One of New Brunswick's contributions to the Scarlet varsity. Starred in high school, later earned wings in Army Air Forces, entered Rutgers following his discharge, has understudied Ernie Gardner at center for two years.
- WILLIAM VENBERG, journalism. Another member of last Fall's yearling eleven who has been promoted to the varsity squad. Venberg attended New Britain, Conn., High School where he played three years of varsity football and also participated in basketball.

Quarterbacks

- FRANK BURNS, physical education. Burns, an all-Eastern back, is regarded as one of the nation's leading "T" formation quarterbacks. He has completed passes good for more than one mile in three years of college football. Backs up the line viciously. Stars in baseball as a hard-hitting catcher.
- AL MALEKOFF, physical education. Once again, Malekoff, who is well known to Scarlet fans as a fullback, is working at the quarterback slot. "Boomy" as Al is known to his teammates, worked at quarter in pre-season practice last year, then returned to fullback when the season started.
- MICHAEL PANNUCCI, engineering. Pannucci came to Rutgers last year with a fine reputation as a quarterback. While at Orange High, he won all-State, all-county, and all-Oranges recognition. At 187, he is the heaviest of the current crop of Scarlet quarterbacks.
- HAROLD SMITH, pre-law. Smith, a promising junior, has earned junior varsity football letters at Rutgers during the past two years. He is a graduate of Matawan High School where he won all-State honors as a senior in 1946. He also plays baseball and basketball.
- RICHARD SUSEMIHL, business administration. Susemihl, a member of the yearling eleven last season, is another of the new quarterback candidates. He came to Rutgers from Cheltenham, Pa., High School where he won letters in football, baseball and basketball.

Left Halfbacks

- VICTOR ARCHAMBAULT, physical education. Archambault is one of two sophomores among the left halfbacks. He played three seasons of football at Lowell, Mass., High School, then starred at New Hampton Prep in New Hampshire. Archambault also plays baseball.
- DICK CRAMER, physical education. The fastest man on the squad, who has been clocked several times at 9.9 for the 100-yard dash. Cramer is in his fourth year of varsity football. In addition to starring on the track, he also is a dangerous attack man on the lacrosse varsity.
- HERMAN HERING, physical education. Hering, the leading ground-gainer on the Scarlet varsity for the past two years, is continuing his athletic exploits with Frank Burns. They formerly teamed together at Roselle Park High. Spring finds Hering with Burns on the baseball varsity.
- HENRY PRYOR, political science. Pryor, who showed great promise as a back two seasons ago, has returned to football after a year's absence. A former Columbia High star, Pryor served in the Marine Corps during the war and was overseas for two and one-half years.
- JOHN WINNER, journalism. Winner, son of a former Rutgers athlete, may show the speed on the varsity which served him so well on the freshman squad and in spring practice. He attended Pennington Prep where he won three varsity football letters.

Right Halfbacks

HARVEY GRIMSLEY, physical education. Grimsley, a slow starter for the past two years, has come along rapidly after mid-season. Last year he broke up a scoreless tie with Lafayette by scoring three rapid touchdowns in less than 14 minutes of the fourth quarter.

BERGE PARIGIAN, business administration. A left halfback for the past two seasons, Parigian has been switched to the other side of the backfield. Injuries have hampered him in the past. He is a former St. Benedict's star, and was a combat pilot in Europe during the war.

STEVE SENKO, physical education. Senko, a three-sport letter-winner at Rutgers, is in his fourth season of varsity football. The former South River High School star was the leading hitter on Coach Chuck Ward's brilliant baseball team last Spring. Senko is married.

IRWIN WINKELRIED, business administration. A gritty player and an honor student, Winkelried was voted the "most improved player" trophy at the close of last Fall's campaign. He starred at South Side High in Newark and served as an Air Force officer before entering Rutgers.

Fullbacks

JOSEPH FURNARI, physical education. A former Montclair High School star, Furnari is one of two sophomore fullbacks who may take up the slack caused by the transfer to quarterback of Malekoff. While at Montclair, Furnari also won three varsity track letters.

MALCOLM McLAREN, ceramics engineering. Son of the great "Tramp" McLaren, who starred with Coach Harman at Pitt. The younger McLaren won all-star acclaim while playing three years of varsity ball at Wilkinsburg, Pa., High School. During the past summer he worked as a lifeguard.

JOHN PETERS, physical education. Peters is a junior transfer from Potomac State Junior College at Keyser, W. Va., where he won three varsity letters as a fullback. He is a veteran of three years service in the Army Air Forces.

LEON ROOT, biological science. A 205-pound husky, Root is one of the better "graduates" of last season's freshman eleven. He starred for two years at East Orange High School, earned his freshman football numerals last Fall, and also was a member of the yearling wrestling team.

JOHN SABO, economics. Sabo started most of last year's games at fullback, was termed by Princeton's Coach Charley Caldwell as one of the major factors in the Scarlet's victory over the Tigers. Sabo was an all-City player at East Side in Newark before he entered the Navy in 1943.

Maestro Lou Little

Lou Little, the master strategist who engineered a 21-20 upset victory over Army last Fall to snap the Cadets' sensational winning streak, has been coaching Columbia's football varsity since 1930 and ranks, in point of service, as the senior coach in the Ivy League. Little graduated from Penn in 1920, after gaining national recognition as a tackle in 1916 and 1919. Between those years he served as an officer in the American forces in France. Returning, he completed his college course, played and coached professional football, then went to Georgetown in 1924 as head coach of football. Two years later he was named director of athletics, holding both positions until 1930 when he went to Columbia. Little's first five seasons at the Lion helm were outstanding and included the sensational Rose Bowl victory over Stanford in 1934. Between 1935 and 1944, Little failed to produce any really outstanding teams, but he maintained his reputation as a resourceful strategist. In 1945 he introduced the "winged T" and since then has compiled a record in three seasons of 21 victories in 27 games. Little's all-time record at Columbia includes 84 wins, 63 losses and nine ties.

STEVE SENKO, physical education. Senko, a three-sport letter-winner at Rutgers, is in his fourth season of varsity football. The former South River High School star was the leading hitter on Coach Chuck Ward's brilliant baseball team last Spring. Senko is married.

IRWIN WINKELRIED, business administration. A gritty player and an honor student, Winkelried was voted the "most improved player" trophy at the close of last Fall's campaign. He starred at South Side High in Newark and served as an Air Force officer before entering Rutgers.

When Union College in 1929, Bixler started his coaching career in an Ohio high school, then moved to Akron University where he spent two years as assistant in football and head basketball coach. In 1939, Bixler was named basketball coach, freshman line coach and scout at Colgate. He moved to Ohio State in 1941 to serve as a scout, and became chief of staff in the famous Ohio State internal shift in 1945. Bixler left the Buckeye helm to accept his present position.

ABOUT RUTGERS UNIVERSITY—1766-1948

Rutgers, an institution which started as a struggling colonial college 10 years before the Revolution, has developed into a modern state university with a constantly expanding student body, guided by a program of teaching and research which is designed to broaden our understanding and improve the world in which we live.

Founded in 1766 by a group of visionary Dutch pioneers, Rutgers originally was called Queen's College under a charter granted by King George III of England. The young college's existence was threatened by the Revolutionary War, but growth followed that conflict, just as unprecedented expansion has been experienced since the last World War.

Rutgers was given its present name in 1825 after generous grants had been received from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a New York philanthropist. Forty years later, the school was designated the Land Grant College of New Jersey, the liberal arts course of study was enlarged, and courses leading to bachelor degrees in agriculture and engineering were added.

In 1902 a department of ceramics was established. New Jersey College for Women, a separate institution with its own campus in New Brunswick, was established in 1918, the School of Education was added in 1923, and in 1925 the Extension Division for non-degree education and the School of Journalism were established. The New Jersey College of Pharmacy was incorporated in the University in 1927. University College, degree-granting evening division, was established in 1934, and Newark University was merged with Rutgers in July of 1946. In 1945, the State Legislature brought all divisions of Rutgers within the designation of the State University of New Jersey.

About Coach Ray Morrison

Ray Morrison, former All-American quarterback at Vanderbilt and ringmaster of the "aerial circus" which catapulted him to coaching fame at Southern Methodist, is starting his ninth season as head coach at Temple. Morrison began his coaching career at S. M. U. in 1915, went to Vanderbilt during World War I, returned to S. M. U. in 1922 to develop several Southwest Conference champions, then went back to Vanderbilt in 1935. He has coached at Temple since 1940, fashioning a record of 29 wins, 32 losses and eight ties.

About Ivy Williamson

Ivan H. Williamson, for 12 years an assistant coach at Yale, is starting his second season as head football mentor at Lafayette. Williamson captained the undefeated, untied Michigan eleven of 1932 and started coaching the following year when he piloted Roseville, Mich., High School through an unbeaten campaign. He joined the Yale staff in 1934 and remained there, with three years out during the war, until accepting his present position. During the war he was assistant to Coach Potsy Clark at Pensacola Air Station. Williamson was a lieutenant commander at the time of his discharge.

"Hook" Mylin in Second Season with Violets

Edward E. (Hook) Mylin, whose Lafayette elevens once were the scourge of Rutgers, is launching his second season as head coach at N.Y.U. Although Mylin's Violet aggregation posted only two victories last season, the veteran mentor is recognized for a long and successful coaching record. After graduation from Franklin & Marshall in 1917, he entered the service. He took his first varsity coaching job at Lebanon Valley in 1923, remaining there for 10 years. Mylin was at Bucknell from 1934-36, where he is remembered for his 26-0 victory over Miami in the Orange Bowl. Taking over at Lafayette in 1937, he led the Pennsylvanians to an undefeated season and was given recognition as "coach of the year." Mylin remained at Lafayette until 1943 when he entered war service. He returned in 1946 to pilot the Maroon, then resigned during the winter to succeed Jack Weinheimer as head coach at N.Y.U.

"Big Ed" Danowski

Edward F. Danowski now is in his third season as Ram gridiron coach. After starring in Fordham's backfield in the early thirties, he played professional football until 1939 when he took up coaching. With the outbreak of war, he entered the Naval Reserve and rose to the rank of lieutenant commander. Following his release from active duty, he went to Rose Hill as head coach of football.

THE RUTGERS STADIUM

Beautiful Rutgers Stadium is the heart of a million-dollar athletic plant which is situated on the University Heights campus.

The Stadium area embraces 270 acres of gently rolling hills. Facilities, in addition to the Stadium itself, include a nine-hole golf course, varsity and practice baseball diamonds, six gridiron-type playing fields and two varsity practice gridirons. Seating capacity of the Stadium is 23,000. The field is of turtle back construction and is surrounded by a track modelled after the Olympic oval in Los Angeles. Considered one of the best tracks in the nation, it is made up of eight lanes on the curves and backstretch with a 12-lane, 220-yard straightaway.

The stands are of reinforced concrete with wooden seats. Running the full length of the East stands is a modern field house which contains dressing rooms and offices. The West stands are crowned by a well-equipped press box providing accommodations for more than 100 writers with complete telegraph and telephone connections. At both ends of the press box are glass enclosed broadcasting booths, topped by platforms for photographers.

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT RUTGERS FOOTBALL

Rutgers Color—Scarlet.

Rutgers nicknames—The Scarlet, The Queensmen.

Rutgers All-Americans—Rutgers has produced two All-Americans, Paul Robeson and Homer Hazel, during its 79 years of football. Robeson, one of the greatest of all Negro athletes, who since has become a leading singer and actor, was named an All-American end by Walter Camp in 1918. Hazel won similar fame as an end in 1923 and as a fullback in 1924. He is one of two men to be named an All-American at two different positions.

Undefeated Rutgers Team—The 1872 eleven defeated Columbia twice in the only game played that season. No other Scarlet eleven has gone undefeated.

Worst Rutgers Record—The 1901 team lost all seven games played that season.

Longest Rutgers Winning Streak—The longest unbroken string of victories in Rutgers football history began after the 25-6 defeat by N.Y.U. in mid-season of 1938. Five straight triumphs followed, and in 1939 the unblemished string was extended to 13 before Brown toppled the Scarlet in the season's final encounter, 13-0. The record includes a scoreless tie with Richmond in 1939.

Oldest Rutgers Rivals—Rutgers' oldest football rivalry is with Princeton, dating back to America's first intercollegiate football game in 1869. Football relations were inaugurated with Columbia the following year. Rutgers has met Lehigh more than any other rival. With 46 games in the series, Rutgers holds an edge over the Engineers with 25 victories 20 losses and one tie. Lafayette and Rutgers have met on 43 occasions, Lafayette winning 26, losing 16 and tying one.

Fastest Men on Squad—Dick Cramer, by the clock, is the fastest. He has turned in several 9.9 performances in the 100-yard dash on the track, but in full football togs is usually beaten by End Bucky Hatchett in dashes down the length of the football field.

Largest Man on Squad—Tackle Oakley Pandick. Pandick's playing weight ranges between 220 and 230. He reported for pre-season practice at a hefty 255 this year, but came down rapidly to 230.

Rutgers Captain—Game captains are appointed by Coach Harvey Harman prior to each game. At the end of the season, the squad votes to select an honorary captain for the past season. Billy Vigh, a senior back last year, was accorded this honor at the close of the 1947 campaign.

Rutgers Mascot—The team's mascot is an Irish setter, named Big Red, who was presented to the squad by the Touchdown Club of New Brunswick last year.

Rutgers Training Camp—Rutgers annually spends three weeks at the New Jersey National Guard Camp at Sea Girt on the New Jersey shore.

Rutgers Football Office—Located off the left side of the foyer on the ground floor of the gymnasium on College Avenue in New Brunswick.
